

Free Legal Consultation and Resources for Fire Victims

Attorneys from the Oregon Trial Lawyers Association (OTLA) are providing pro-bono assistance to those who suffered property damage in the Echo Mountain fires. Attorneys will be available to give general guidance, assistance, and advice regarding fire insurance claims and related legal issues at no charge. Social Distancing, masks, and other COVID-19 precautions will be observed. Face coverings and hand sanitizer will be made available.

- Who: Anyone who suffered property damage in the fires
- What: Free legal consultation, advice, and assistance
- Where: Lincoln City Outlet Mall, Suite 410
- When: Saturday, October 10, from noon – 4 p.m.,
Second date and time tbd.

No registration needed. Have questions or need more information? Call Adam Springer at Yaquina Law at 541-272-5500, open Monday – Friday 9am – 5 pm.

Can't make it, but have questions or need assistance? OTLA has the following resources available for you:

OTLA has made a free hotline available for general advice and referrals to attorneys who handle fire claims. Call 1-800-809-0616 between 9 am – 5 pm, Monday – Friday to speak with an attorney.

Questions about your insurance claim? Go to www.oregontriallawyers.org/fireresources to watch videos explaining fire insurance claims made by attorneys who specialize in representing insured persons on insurance claims